

MR China Ltd.

The REINHAUSEN Group is active in the field of power engineering and is composed of the Maschinenfabrik Reinhausen (MR) located in Regensburg, Germany and its 42 subsidiaries as well as 4 affiliated companies spread all around the world. With a long history of 151 years, MR is the innovation leader, technology leader in the tap-changer business and also one of the first-choice suppliers of on-load tap changer for power transformers in various industrial applications. Our core business is the regulation of power transformers. Other major divisions include the construction of high-voltage testing and diagnostic systems, the manufacture of composite insulators, the conceptual design of systems for reactive power compensation and surface modification using atmospheric-pressure plasma technologies. Our clients are manufacturers of high-voltage equipment and systems, power utility companies and large-scale industries with intensive power requirements. After more than 40 years of successful cooperation with China, the REINHAUSEN Group is now further strengthening its commitment to the important Chinese transformer industry. Currently MR has 2 subsidiaries in China: Shanghai and Suzhou.

We offer our customers a quick response and professional product assistance and we are committed to creating a brand new one-stop seamless experience for customers.
